

THIRTEEN SAVED.

Twelve Bodies of the Passengers of the Wrecked Mohagan Have Been Rescued.

THIRTY-ONE ARE STILL MISSING.

Of the Crew and Cattlemen Thirty-Nine Are Safe and Fourteen Bodies Have Been Recovered.

Thirty-Nine Bodies Have Been Identified, Mostly the Bodies of Action-Tags in the Vicinity of the Accident to Pick up Bodies.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The Atlantic Transport Co. issued the following statement Sunday evening regarding the fate of the passengers and crew of the steamer Mohagan, which was wrecked last Friday evening off the coast, between the Canadian and the Lowlands. Of the passengers 11 have been saved, 10 bodies have been recovered and 83 are missing.

"Of the crew and cattlemen 39 have been saved, 16 bodies have been recovered and 41 are missing."

Since this statement was issued nine other bodies have been picked up, including two that have been identified as those of passengers.

The reports of the various correspondents differ widely as to the rescues, recoveries and losses, though none have been able to obtain the exact number of those saved or of the bodies recovered.

The bodies of the following passengers have been recovered: T. W. King, Edna King, Master King, J. H. Mackey, Miss H. M. Cowen, Dr. Fallow, Mrs. Franklin Palmer, Mrs. M. L. Baker, George Beymore, Miss L. H. Warner.

The latest advices from Falmouth Sunday evening say that 83 bodies have been identified, mostly the bodies of sailors. Four are yet unidentified, including those of two elderly ladies. One appears to be a German. She wore a watch and a wedding ring, both engraved "1871." The other wore a pearl brooch, with the letter "D" in a circle. This is probably the body of Mrs. Charles Duncan.

Nine of the bodies have been brought to Falmouth, the others to the village church at St. Keverna. The rescued passengers are being sheltered at cottages along the shore and the crew at the sailors' home at Falmouth.

Fog have been clearing the vicinity all day Sunday, despite the very rough weather, in hope of picking up other bodies. The cause of the disaster remains the profound mystery.

Nobody apparently is explaining how the Mohagan got so far north of her true course—some 8 to 7 miles. There was no fog at the time; while the wind on her port quarter was not sufficient to prevent her answering the helm. It has been suggested that her compass was faulty; but daylight faded long after Eddystone light was passed.

The sailors say the fact that the Lizard light was not visible should have served to give the alarm.

The masts of the Mohagan, which she showed water, show that her stern is landward, causing a theory that the navigating officer on discovering that he was in the bay suddenly turned seaward.

Two engineers who were saved believe, however, that they never slackened speed.

Remarkable stories of rescue continue. Robert Burrow, a seaman, performed the feat of swimming, enabled, through the roughest water to Cornwall Point, a distance of two and one-half miles. He climbed up the ragged cliff, where a searching party found him early the next morning, completely exhausted.

A. C. Smith, of Oregon, a passenger, surrendered to a woman in the water wreckage that was supporting him and swam ashore naked. The woman was saved. Her name is reported as Miss Webb, but no such name appears in the company's list.

Messrs. Smith and W. J. Bloomfield say there was the greatest difficulty in launching the boats. The ropes were new and stiff and the blocks would not work. Four or five times as many sailors as should have been necessary struggled to lower each boat. The lockers were hard to open.

The crew, in a chivalrous effort to save the women, made the mistake of undermanning the boats. There were only four sailors in one boat, which capsized as soon as it was launched.

Messrs. Smith and Bloomfield say that Capt. Griffiths had appeared in all day.

The death of Mr. T. W. King, who was a newspaper proprietor at Nantucket, Mass., and of his family, including Mrs. King, her mother, Mrs. Walker, and his sons, Edgar and John, and Anthony, aged 4, has caused deep sorrow at Nantucket, where the family had a summer cottage and was very popular.

Joseph Osborne, King's valet, who was saved, says he was on deck when the crash came. The lights went out immediately. Reaching to the saloon he heard Mr. King exhorting his family to keep cool.

O'Brien, with seven others, clung to the rigging until 6 o'clock Saturday morning, when a life boat took him off. He identified the bodies of the King's and Mrs. Walker and with them Sam embarked and taken to the United States in accordance with cable instructions from the relatives of the family at Nantucket.

(The description in the London dispatch of Mr. T. W. King as a newspaper proprietor at Nantucket, Mass., is probably erroneous. Inquiry shows that the proprietors of the local papers in Nantucket and its vicinity bear other names. In Boston paper circles Mr. King's name is unfamiliar. Probably he was a wealthy summer resident of Nantucket.)

EXPLOSION AND MURDER.

Gas Exploded in the Fann Coal Co.'s Shaft—A Negro Miner Shot and Killed by Wounds Laid on, Colored.

PANA, Ill., Oct. 17.—A bad fire is burning in Fann Coal Co.'s shaft No. 1. It was started by an explosion of gas in the north entry at noon Saturday, and so far it has been impossible for the company to extinguish it. An effort was made to drag it out, but failing in that, men were sent down Sunday afternoon to build partition walls in hopes of smothering it out.

When the explosion occurred there were about 40 Negroes at work in adjoining chambers, but none was injured.

Sunday evening at 5:30 o'clock John Hawkins, a Negro miner employed at Fann shaft No. 1, fatally shot Isiah Rosa, also colored, as the result of an all day quarrel. The shooting occurred in the company's office where Rosa sought safety and was done with a Springfield rifle, a number of which were found there. Maj. Butler, commanding the militia, will disarm the Negroes Monday.

A MYSTERY.

Body Floating Evidence of Pond Found Floating in the Water in Gravesend Bay, New York City.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A man's body, bearing strong evidences of foul play, was found Sunday floating in Gravesend bay. The throat had been cut from ear to ear, and apparently by some keen instrument, the wound being a clean one. The jugular vein was severed. There also was the mark of a blow on the left breast. Apparently the body had been in the water about a week. The man had been about 30 years old, five feet eight inches in height and weighing about 110 pounds. The body was nude. There were no marks by which the identity of the victim could be traced.

COLD-BLOODED BUTCHERY.

Father and Four Children Found Dead in Their Home—The Wife and Mother Suspect of the Crime.

WINTERBURY, Man., Oct. 17.—A Dominion City dispatch to the Free Press says a cold-blooded butchery took place in the Dominion settlement east of there, some time within the last 24 hours. A Galesburg man and his four children were found dead in the home by a neighbor. The wife is missing and is suspected to be guilty of the crime. The weapon used was an ax. The man's head was nearly severed from his body, and the children's bodies were more or less mutilated. It is understood the man and woman had frequently quarreled. The name of the family could not be learned.

Two Drowned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—William Lewis and John Welch, both of Newark, were drowned in Newark bay Sunday afternoon. In company with two other young men they were crabbing. The water got rough, however, and they put back. While alongside the Long Beach railroad bridge and endeavoring to climb upon the structure, Lewis fell into the water. Lewis told him by the shore, but he was dragged down, and both were drowned.

A Boatman Shot in Collision.

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 17.—The steamer H. W. Buley, lies ashore at the dock of Bag Island, St. Clair river, as a result of a three-cornered collision which took place between her and the steamers Lansing and Northern King Sunday. The Lansing reached there with a few broken planks and is leaking badly. The Northern King passed down the river and the extent of her damage is not known.

THE CUBAN DEBT.

American and Spanish Peace Commissioners at Loggersheads Over the Question.

ON THIS THEY CAN NOT COME TO TERMS.

The Americans Claim That the Question Has Been Laid on the Table and Refuse to Discuss It.

Spaniards Say It Would Be an Extraordinary Course to Demand Spain With the Debt, While Surrendering the Security to Pay It.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says: "The peace negotiations are necessarily slow, being conducted less by exchange of words than exchange of notes and statements. Senor Montero Rios, president of the Spanish commission, does not understand English. Consequently the few words exchanged must be interpreted and even then, they are definitive till committed to paper."

"The Cuban debt question has thus been laid on the table, and the attitude adopted by them from the outset, they seemed resolved to take their stand on the instructions—or rather, as I have already said, the precise and concise orders—which they brought with them, but the Spaniards, on their side, do not think themselves bound to bow with docility to the imperative instructions of another government."

"They returned to the charge Saturday, if I am well informed, saying the generally admitted principle which imposes on conquerors the burdens belonging to the territory conquered, either in their own behalf or of their clients. They insist that it would be an extraordinary course to saddle Spain, already in no lamentable financial position, with the Cuban debt, while surrendering to the victor the security with which it could be paid."

"They remarked, according to my information, that if they had asked the United States for permission to raise interest out of the customs revenues, they would naturally have met with a refusal. How then can they be asked to leave the victor the pledge allowing payment of interest and yet retain the burden of debt? They observed, however, that as Cuba is the key to the Gulf of Mexico, the United States will thus be able to pass the only barrier which they had hitherto been unable to cross at will, and that is worth some sacrifice."

"Hence the Spanish commissioners insist, in the name of recognizing international law, that the debt should not rest solely on Spanish shoulders. It is impossible to foretell the American reply, but it is not likely that Mr. Day and his colleagues will yield. Anties is added—and said to be warmly advocated by the friends of peace and justice—that the interest should be reduced 34 per cent, or even to 3 per cent, and jointly guaranteed by the Spaniards and the future rulers of Cuba, each thus bearing only a very slight burden and the bondholders being protected from loss on their investments. This last information does not emanate either from Spaniards or Americans, but there is an intention of backing it so as to give it some chance of success."

PEACE JUBILEE.

It Was Inaugurated in the Chicago Auditorium With a Union Thanksgiving Service.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY IN ATTENDANCE.

Addresses Were Delivered by a Catholic Priest, Jewish Rabbi, Presbyterian and Colored Orator.

Over 15,000 People Were in the Hall and as Many More on the Outside Unable to Get In.

the University's Guest.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The national peace jubilee of Chicago was Sunday night inaugurated with a union thanksgiving service at the Auditorium. President McKinley attended and listened to addresses by a Jewish Rabbi, a Roman Catholic priest, a Presbyterian clergyman and a noted colored orator. The applause for the speakers was terrific, and at one time he was compelled to rise in his box and respond to the frantic cheering of the audience. The service, however, was of a religious character, and at times the solemn silence of the vast assemblage was much more eloquent than the wildest applause could be.

The president rested during a great part of the day at the residence of Capt. Lafayette Williams, his relative, where he is being entertained. He did not attend church in the morning. For a short time in the afternoon he was taken for a drive in company with Mrs. McKinley, Capt. McWilliams and Mrs. McWilliams.

The party was driven to the Auditorium at 8 o'clock, and all along the way people lined the streets to watch the passage of the president's carriage. Easily 15,000 people were within the great Auditorium, and probably as many more were on the outside unable to obtain admittance. The president was seated in a box on the left side of the Auditorium and with him were Alexander H. Revell, President Wm. R. Harper, of the University of Chicago, Capt. McWilliams and Secretaries Porter and Cortelyou.

Among the occupants of the other boxes were James McKinley, the president's nephew, Secretary Wilson and Miss Wilson, Secretary and Mrs. Gage, Secretary Bliss, Assistant Secretary McKellogg and Postmaster Gordon.

Elaborate music had been prepared for the meeting under the direction of Henry H. Koenig. Rev. Dr. Henry W. Thomas, pastor of the People's church, was chairman of the meeting, Bishop Samuel Fallows led in the recital of Henry's prayer, and Rev. Dr. Jenkins Boyd Jones in the responsive reading.

The first address was by Rabbi Emil G. Hirsch, who brought out a great burst of applause by a reference to President McKinley.

Rev. Dr. Thomas H. Holnet, a Catholic clergyman, caught the fancy and applause of the audience by repeated references to Rev. Sampson, Scholly and the rough riders, and when he mentioned President McKinley by name the people became so demonstrative that the president was compelled to rise in his box and bow his acknowledgments. At the conclusion of his address Dr. Holnet aroused much enthusiasm by a philippic against the "growing influence of monopoly and the cohesive power of unjust corporations."

One of the most stirring speeches of the evening was made by Rev. Dr. John Harry Harrow, who took a firm stand in favor of the restoration of the Philippines, which sentiment appeared to meet entirely the approbation of the audience.

Rev. Dr. Washington was the last speaker. His address was listened to with marked attention.

Monday for the most part of the day the president was the guest of the University of Chicago, from which institution he will receive the degree of LL. D.

A MEMORIAL BUILDING.

The Confederates Will Erect One to Hold War Relics at Lexington—Daughters of the Confederacy Leading.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 17.—A movement is on foot among leading ex-Confederates to erect a memorial building here in which to place the relics of the war between the states. The daughters of the Confederacy all over the state are expected to take hold of the enterprise, and as Lexington is the most centrally located city and the home of President John Boyd, of the Confederate Veterans Association of Kentucky, and as he has the largest collection of Confederate relics, it will undoubtedly be located here. It is likely that the splendid collection of war relics of Maj. Geo. B. Cockrell, of Cumberland Gap, will be secured for this museum.

So Soldiers to the West South at Present. LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 17.—Orders were received at a corps headquarters at Camp Hamilton Sunday instructing that no regiment is to be sent south until the yellow fever is entirely eradicated. Miss Crow had loved not wisely but too well, and to keep her little babe from starving she stole a watch and went to Louisville to sell it. She was arrested for the theft, but her friends rallied and gave bond. It was proved so conclusively that she stole the truth as to why she stole the watch that he pardoned her before trial.
